Background:

Rural Development & Self Employment Training Institutes (RUDSETI) are jointly sponsored by Sri. Dharmasthala Manjunatheshwara Educational Trust, Syndicate Bank and Canara Bank with Dr. D. Veerendra Heggade, Dharmadikari of Dharmasthala as the President of the organization. Through continuous experimentation and innovation, RUDSETI has adopted a model of identifying, training and facilitating unemployed rural youth to take up self employment. This short duration intervention has been effective in motivating the trained persons to acquire skill & develop entrepreneurship.

RUDSETI has established 27 units across the country and cumulatively trained more than 3.7 lakh persons, out of which 73% have established micro enterprises as of 31.03.2015. Further, these first generation entrepreneurs have been able to create more jobs for others. The approach of RUDSETI has enabled in developing entrepreneurship through motivation & training among the rural youth.

Recognizing the effectiveness of RUDSETI model, Government of India (GOI) Ministry of Rural Development have in a significant move advised all the Banks to establish one Rural Self Employment Training Institute (RSETI) on the model of RUDSETI in each District of the country as result we have 583 RSETIs. The Ministry is providing funding support for creation of infrastructure. State Governments, DRDAs, SIDBI, NABARD and other development organizations are also extending support to the training programmes of RSETIs.

RUDSETI/RSETIs are managed by Bank officials who are posted on deputation for a specific period as Directors.
